LEARNING AND TEACHING POLICY

Parkwood Hall is a Co-operative Academy and we have adopted the values of the co-operative movement to assist us as we govern the school. We have also developed values for learning and teaching that inspire our students and staff alike.

Our co-operative values are self-help, self-responsibility, democracy, equality, equity and solidarity. Our ethical values, as a cooperative school are honesty, openness, social responsibility and caring for others. These are the ways in which we do things at our school and they sit at the heart of all our policy development.

1 RATIONALE

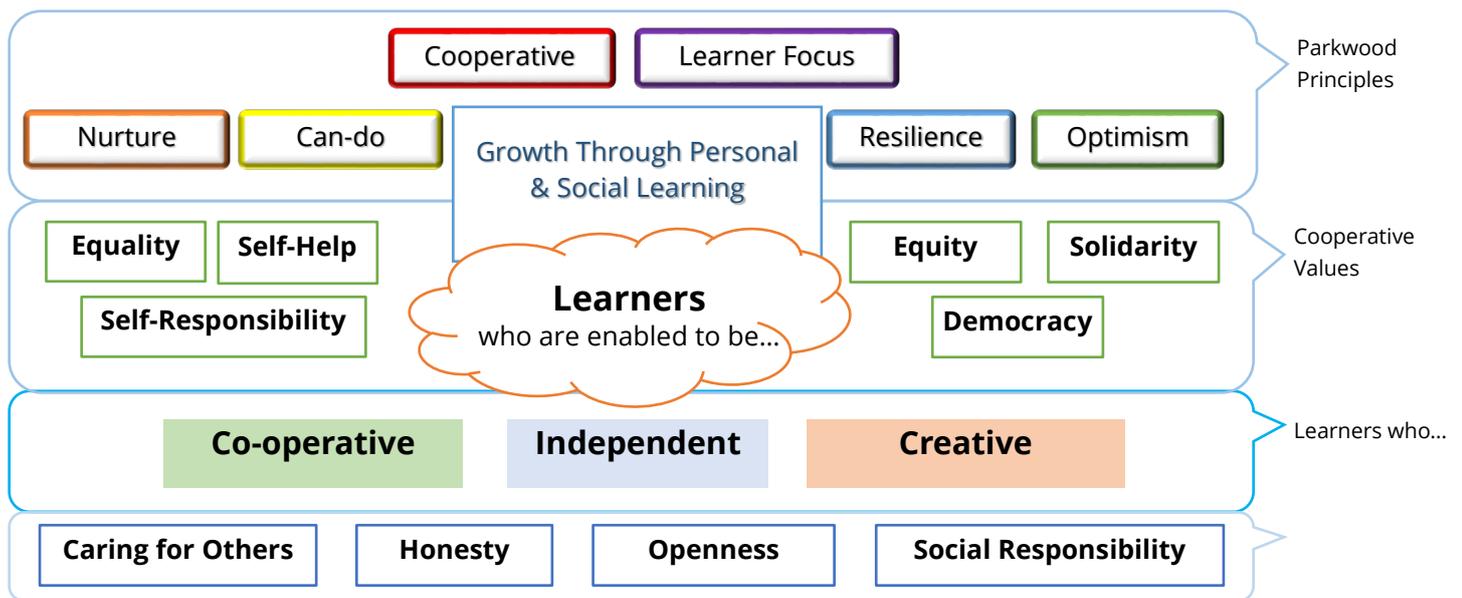

The school learning and teaching policy has been formulated to ensure the highest quality provision is offered to all of the school community. It reflects our values and in doing so provides an entitlement and expectation that high quality learning, teaching and CPD will be in the school, be a driving force so that everyone can experience personal and social growth.

2 HOW THE POLICY SHOULD BE USED

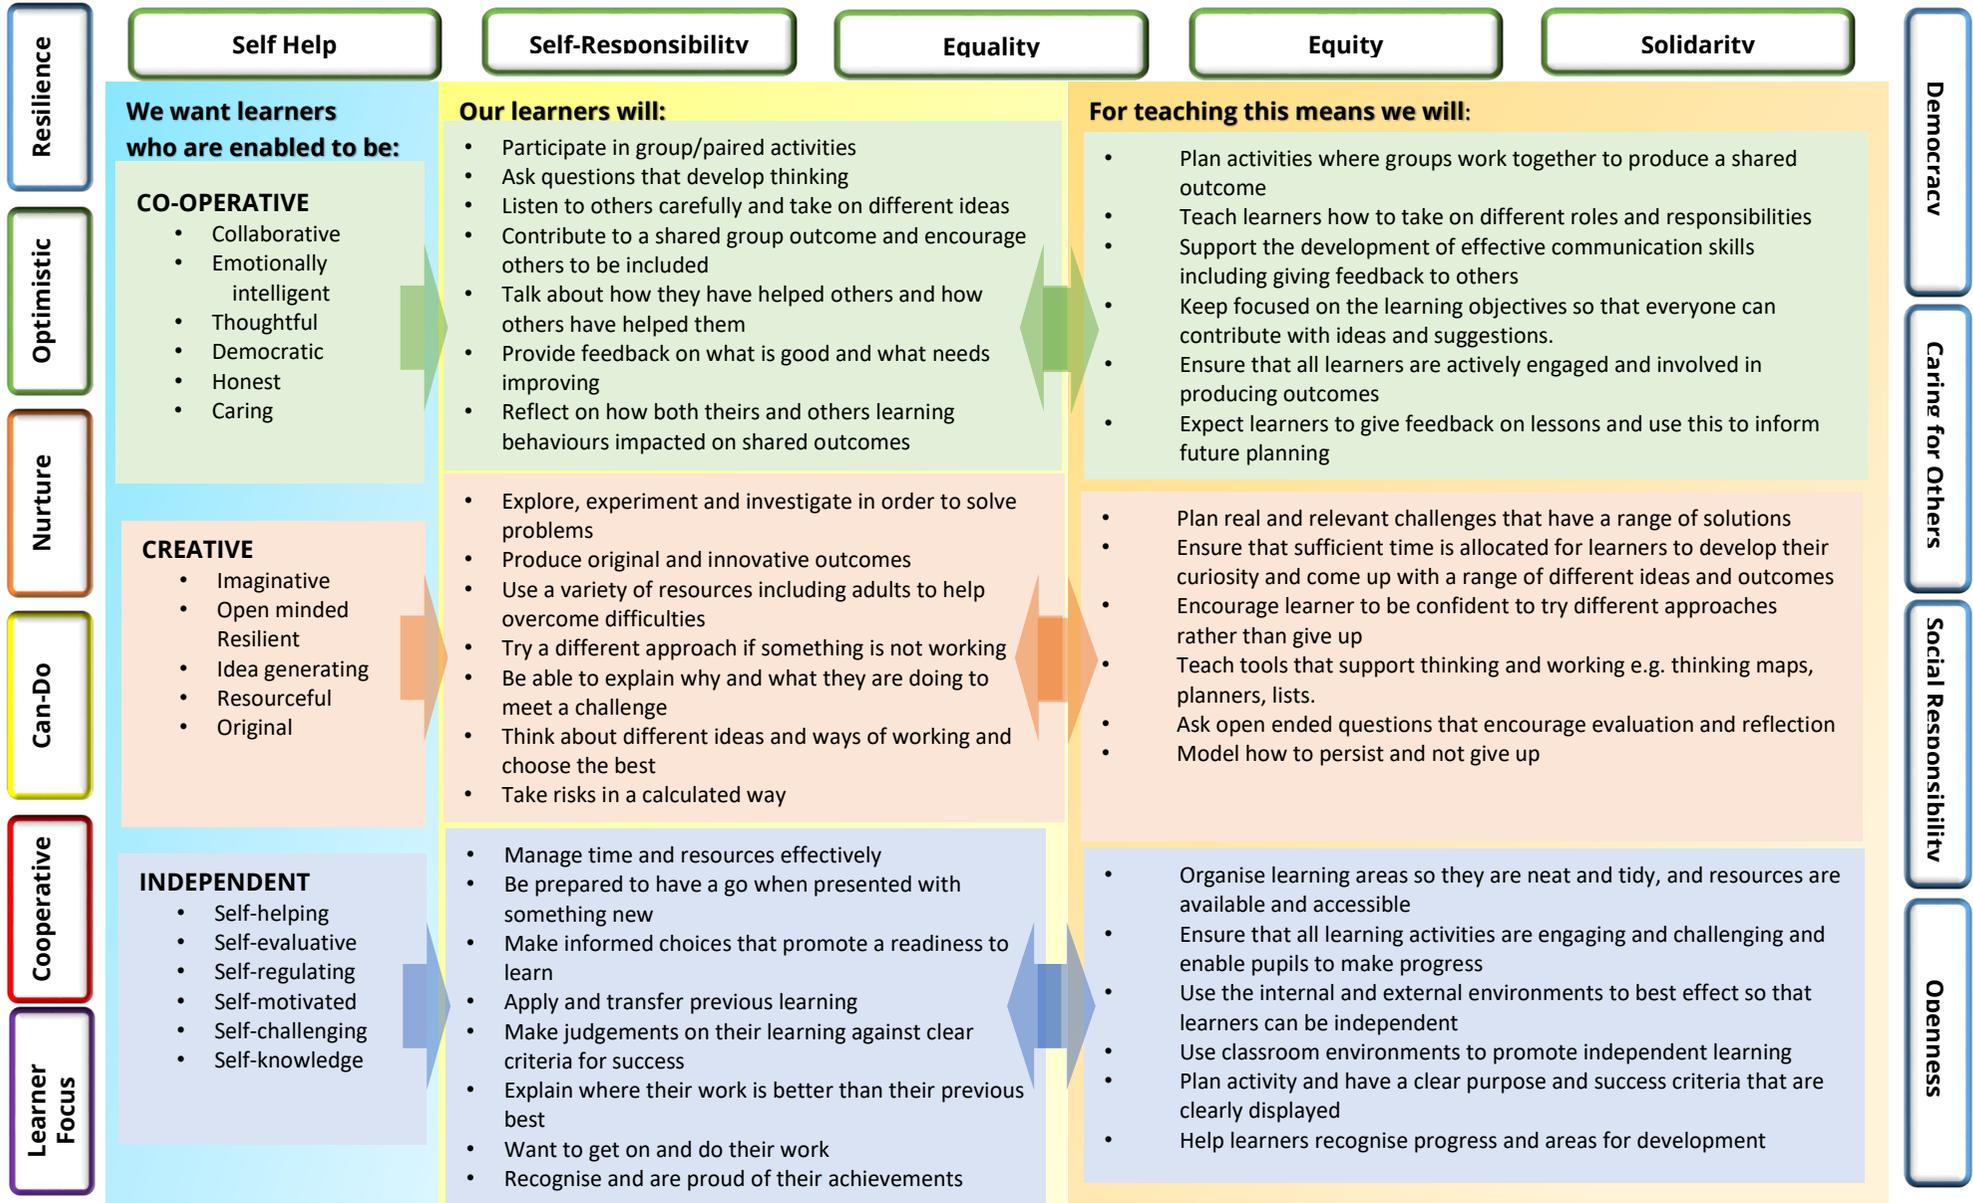

This policy determines not “what we are learning”, but our expectations for “how we learn”.

- It is a collective responsibility for all staff to plan and deliver lessons that ensure the statements in the policy are adhered to.
- Staff have a responsibility to develop and maintain learning environments that support the learners to achieve their learning outcomes.
- Learning and teaching in the school will be regularly monitored and evaluated so that we are able to constantly and rigorously quality assure provision.
- This policy should be read in conjunction with other school documents:
 - Assessment policy (Draft)
 - Curriculum Guidelines (Currently in development)
 - Job descriptions
 - Staff Appraisal policy
 - School Self-evaluation and Improvement Plan
 - CPD Policy (Identified in the School Improvement Plan)
